

Yenching Global Symposium 2017: Bringing Chinese and International Scholars Together for Xinnovation

2016-11-24 11:35:43

Deadline: 15 December 2016

The Peking University, Beijing, China, is hosting Yenching Academy's flagship event, the Yenching Global Symposium, one of the most selective conferences held in China, quickly becoming one of the world's most competitive and highly anticipated conferences.

The symposium with the theme "Xinnovation: Identity of Innovation in China" will be a four-day event consisting of multidisciplinary lectures, panel discussions, site visits, and interactive sessions on Chinese innovation. It will feature prominent Chinese and international scholars as well as leading professionals who will challenge and expand previously held conceptions about innovation in China. The Symposium will select and invite approximately 75 students and young professionals to participate in the event as delegates. It will cover all fees associated with the trip—including flights, ground transportation, meals, and accommodation.

The Yenching Global Symposium will take place on the dates March 23-26, 2017. Delegates will arrive by the evening of March 22nd.
